Yule savings spell happy holidays

Into the mails Wednesday went 1967 Christmas Savings Club checks from Hancock County's three banks. Dispatching savings to the thrifty are, from left, J.B. Burrow, Jr., of Gulf

National Bank, Robert L. Hamilton of Hancock Bank and Richard Matheny of Merchants Bank and Trust Co.

City Hall Defer view on manager

At the formal petition for an election of the manager of government presented, any discussion of the matter is a waste, Mayor John A. Scafide told a three-man delegation on the topic Monday.

The trio—E.J. Marengo, Michael Haas and Nicholas said this would be their opportunity to go into some of the petition before it was presented and wanted the administration's views on

The mayor denied it was the last chance to discuss it and asserted it would mature for City Hall to do the topic until the petition is filed. Then, he declared, any will have an opportunity to be recommended.

Attorney Sam L. Favre concurred that "no court entertain a hypothetical" adding that City Mission Council was not to be arbitrary.

Michael Haas explained that law requires the question determined whether aldermen under the city manager would be elected at large from wards. He said his wanted to know City Hall's stand on this as a guide in filing the petition.

Commissioner J. Cyril, who had agreed to set a meeting with the delegation, said his understanding of law was that there would be propositions on the ballot they would be 1. for the form of government of the city manager form, 2. aldermen elected at large, 3. aldermen elected by ward.

Scafide repeated that the aldermen were wasting the time of the delegation and the administration. "Do you change the form of government now—which can't place anyway until 1969?"

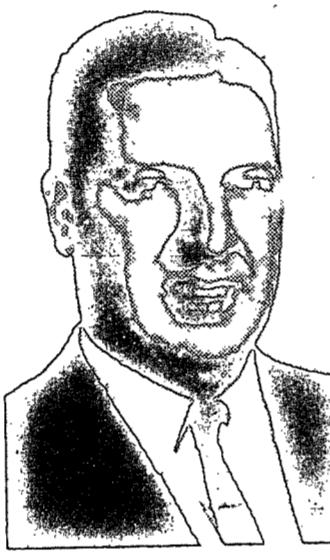

The present terms of office—1968—1969—is more important finding a hand to get this community out of the dust," said the trio.

Marengo retorted, that "you mean this administration can't do it," Scafide bristled.

Mayor proposes pay hike formula

A schedule of pay increases for city street, maintenance and sanitation workers and the police and fire departments was proposed Monday by Mayor John A. Scafide, culminating several months of study of general fund revenues vs. expenditures.

City Commissioners J. Cyril Glover and Warren Traub were asked to prepare similar figures for the clerical and utility personnel and a decision on a package increase is expected at the first December meeting.

Mayor Scafide proposed that the hikes be made retroactive to Nov. 1 and be incorporated in the December pay checks.

67 Yule savings are out

More than $150,000 in 1967 Christmas Savings Club checks were mailed Wednesday in Bay St. Louis by the three local banking institutions to set the stage for holiday cheer.

Hancock Bank, which dispatched 7,828 checks to club members all along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, figured about $107,000 in its bumper Yule savings year is being distributed in the Bay St. Louis area.

Merchants Bank sent $29,856 to about 225 accounts, a slight dip from last year.

Gulf National, which opened its Bay St. Louis branch last year, sent $198,500 from Gulfport headquarters to all its members. No breakdown on local funds was available.

All three banks start their 1968 Santa preparation clubs on Monday at all offices. There is no charge or penalty if the club isn't paid in full.

Hancock is in its 53rd year of Christmas savings and this year's checks hit a new high of $74,861, an increase of $74,505 over the previous high last year. Computer facilities typed and prepared all the checks in less than two hours compared with two weeks which would have been required to complete the task manually.

Christmas saving funds are used for shopping and thus add greatly to the local economy of every Mississippi Gulf Coast community when Christmas shoppers buy at home.

on emergency work and up to half of what the county expends in permanent restoration. He praised efforts of U.S. Senator John Stennis and Congressman William M. Colmer is setting up appointments in Washington and their interest in seeking aid for Hancock County.

The county's share on the project in a joint restoration is $255,000. That presumably will be drawn from the road protection bond fund.

The project runs from Terrebonne Harbor to St. Charles Street in Bay St. Louis. The $1,100 estimated total cost of this work is the same figure Wier submitted earlier this year and was approved by the state aid division and the public bureau office in Jackson.

Federal share of permanent restoration work is now $155,000, compared to the $75,000 Bureau of Public Roads said last summer was the maximum it could allow. Plus the $16,000 matching money for emergency restoration which was spent right after the September, 1965, debacle, that brings the U.S. share to $171,000 on the $442,000 project.

Ruble Griffin, attorney for the board of supervisors, said the federal bureau has indicated it is ready to advertise the project on the new basis just as soon as it reviews revised plans from County Engineer George W. Wier.

In a separate letter to Wier, the state aid chief outlined what he must submit to the public roads agency to get things moving. These include eight sets of small plans, right of way certificates or easement deeds, provision for the county to move underground utilities where necessary and the like.

Griffin, who accompanied Moore to Washington, D.C., in August to try to get more than the $75,000 set aside for the project, said the work as now programmed is actually what the county is entitled to. The federal emergency relief formula is 50-50 matching money.

A second stage that will fly as part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's fourth Apollo Saturn V space vehicle is enroute to NASA's Mississippi Test Facility for static test.

The stage is more powerful and somewhat lighter than the first three second stages being used in the Saturn V.

Thanks to thinner propellant tank walls and lighter structures, the vehicle will weigh about 3,000 pounds less than the second stage which flew Nov. 9 as part of the nation's first Apollo Saturn V. Second stage of the first three Saturn V's and weigh about 88,200 pounds empty.

In addition, the five J-2 engines each will produce 2,060 pounds more thrust in the thin atmosphere where they are designed to operate than earlier versions of the second stage. The first three second stages are designed to produce a maximum of 1,175,000 pounds thrust.

All Saturn V's following the third launch will use the lighter and more powerful stage.

It is due to arrive at MTF Sunday and be placed in the static test stand the next day.

The schedule calls for one static test of about 360 seconds duration before it is shipped to the Kennedy Space Center launch pad. That is about the same length of time it burns during a Saturn V launch.

The stage was built by North American-Rockwell Corp., under the direction of the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center.

Bay gets hefty sales tax rebate

Bay St. Louis' November sales tax rebate from the state hit a whopping $13,015,650, the biggest since 1965.

Commissioner J. Cyril Wier reported this week.

The chairman of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, in more than $100,000 in November, the largest since 1965.

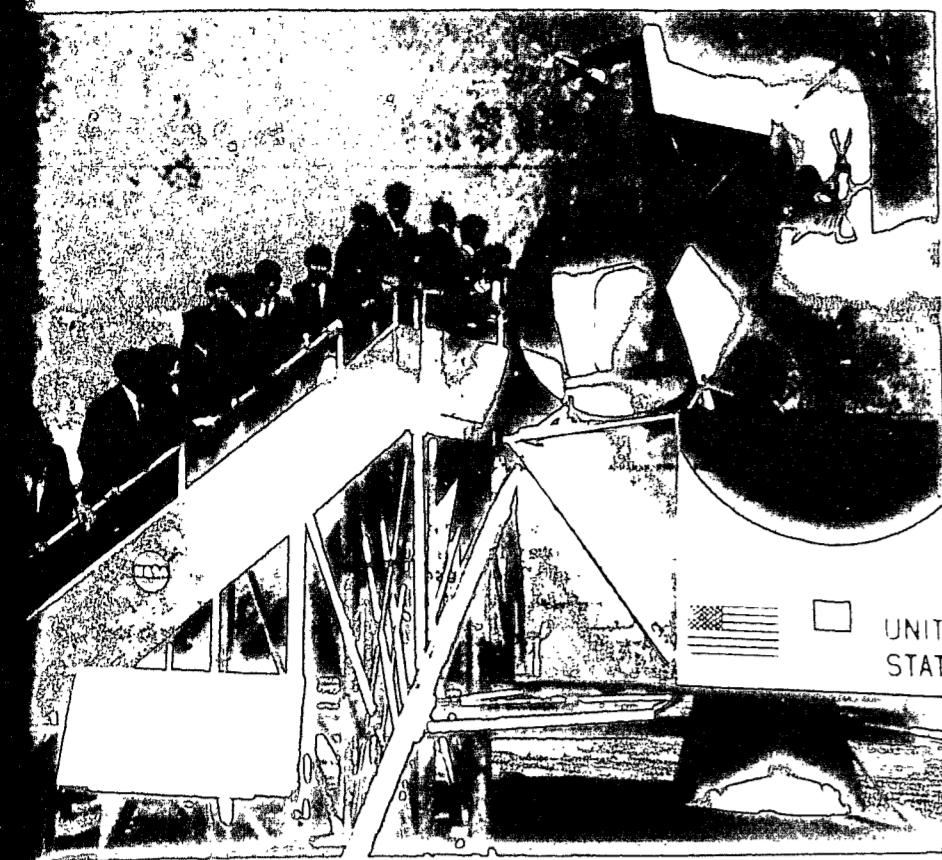

The city's sales tax rebate taken into account by the state.

Wier's check was $11,344.05.

SON CRAFT - Full-size model of Apollo lunar module that will actually land two astronauts on Moon is now on display at Mississippi Test Facility. Visitors will be able to see lunar craft and walking stairs to see flashing instrument panel located inside.

After Thanksgiving holiday, regular tours of site will resume Nov. 27.

MTF halts tours for Thanksgiving

There will be no guided tours for the public at NASA's Mississippi Test Facility during the Thanksgiving holidays.

A full tour schedule will be resumed on November 27, with daily tours at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday and at 1:30 p.m. and 3:00 p.m. on Sundays.

The public is invited to write Tours and Presentations, NASA Mississippi Test Facility, Bay St. Louis, Miss., 39520, to schedule any group or individuals for a later date. Small groups, families or individuals can tour the NASA facility by simply stopping at the gates and asking to tour the facilities at the times listed above.

11 Bay firms had part in Saturn firing

Employees of 11 firms based in Bay St. Louis and one in Pearlington were among at least 20 in five Mississippi cities providing services or equipment which contributed to the recent successful launch of the nation's first Saturn V rocket.

The Saturn V, the nation's largest space vehicle, was built under the direction of the NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center and static tested at Mississippi Test Facility.

A later Saturn V will launch a manned Apollo spacecraft to the moon.

The following firms were awarded contracts in excess of $10,000 in connection with Saturn V work:

Bay St. Louis -- Aerojet-General Corp., Consolidated American Service, Control Data Corp., Damco and Moore, Giantz Contracting, Hewlett-Packard Co., M and T Co., National Mobile Leasing, Nitrogen Oilwell Service, Scott-Wallace-Ecko, Wismer and Becker.

Gulfport -- Jones and Lanson Machinery, Lynch Cor., Textron Electronics, Jackson-Speed Mechanical Contractors, Vickers, Inc., Wholesale Supply Co; Pearlington -- Robertshaw Controls, and Picayune -- Mississippi Mechanical Contractors.

Methodists open revival

Capt. Charles D. Loftin of West Park Methodist Church, Jackson, will be evangelist for the revival at Main Street Methodist Church, starting Sunday night and continuing through next Thursday. Singer will be the chapel of the Gulf Park college staff.

The Sunday service will be at 7:30 p.m., weekday service will be at 7:15 a.m. and at 8:30 p.m. with a nursery provided each evening.

Forest rangers lead busy life

Apart from being called on to extinguish forest fires, members of state forestry department conducted a busy round of activities during fiscal 1967. Timber management plans were prepared to cover 134,567 acres, 45,126 acres were planted from trees and a further 6,925 acres directly seeded to trees. Figures for fiscal 1966 were 226,811, 50,707 and 7,803 respectively. Timber stand improvement releases were given to 32,154 acres, down from 44,172 the previous year as were the 2,399 and 17,227 totals for site preparation for natural and artificial regeneration, mechanical and prescribed fire, when compared to 66 totals of 4,772 and 19,867 respectively.

In prescribed burning totals, 106,483 acres were rated for hazard reduction, compared to 59,986 for 1966; 24,052 vs. 23,487, species control; 4,536 vs. 5,989, disease controls 1,110

vs. 2,006, wildlife habitat, respectively. The commission gave 171 field demonstrations, 1,235 talks on forestry, 2,239 radio programs and released 2,909 news articles in 1967.

In addition 6,501 landowners applied for advice during the year, down slightly from the 7,843 the year before.

THANKS FOLKS . . .

Thanks for all the nice comments you've made about our Headquarters Facilities building program, and the interest you've evidenced in our efforts.

We have about finished moving our transportation operations and crew facilities into our new CREW-VEHICLE BUILDING located just across Main Street and South of our Main Office Building.

Construction on the WAREHOUSE ADDITION is about completed, and the moving of inventories from rented facilities through. We are just about as proud of this addition as we are our handsome CREW-VEHICLE BUILDING. we think it blends in nicely with the original building and is completely in character with the new building across the street - don't you agree?

We plan on having Open House soon - before Christmas, if possible. - certainly soon. We want each and every one of you to come visit us, BUT, just like the ladies don't like company in the new house before the drapes are hung and the furniture is all in place, we, too, want to wait until we are all tidied up. We want to wait until the work benches, the racks, the shelves are all installed, - some delayed equipment has arrived - and all is in order for your inspection.

Perhaps some of you have wondered why we suddenly need all the additional facilities. It is not suddenly. With the coming of NASA and the loss of nearly 1,000 consumers due to the installation, we were, to say the least, unsure of the long range impact of such. Then came the growth impact in the Picayune area, plus an accelerated growth throughout our three county service area. Conditions were confusing - would the boom last? - or would the reverse be true?

We were faced with certain space requirements. We built a small frame building for three Engineers. We converted our Demonstration Kitchen - Laundry into office space. Then a 35 foot long trailer was added, - and then another trailer was added, and the hodge podge that resulted did not afford efficient economical operation and it certainly didn't add anything to the landscape.

Then a pattern of growth throughout Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River Counties started to evolve. we projected such growth and the facilities we decided we would need to provide for such.

We have developed a long range building plan, to step by step allow the construction of permanent facilities to provide for the most efficient and desirable handling of the ever increasing membership and interim facilities where the need was evident.

The pre fab building along side our principal building is an example of the latter. The construction of this building, known to us as the West Wing - and its occupancy early this year allowed us to dispose of the large trailer and the small frame building, provide for more efficient space for our Engineering and Member Services Departments, and at long last - Board Room.

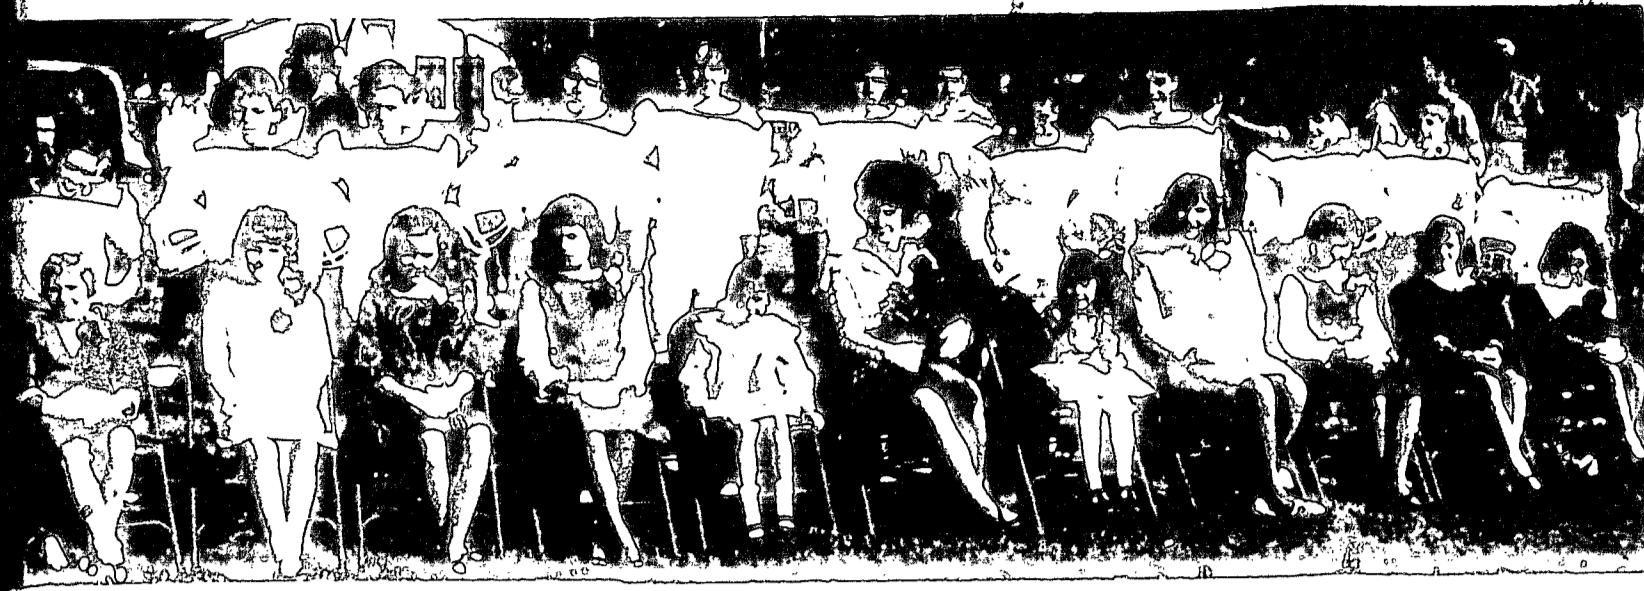

Then came the CREW-VEHICLE BUILDING - and more recently, construction of a WAREHOUSE ADDITION. The former is planned to adequately handle its assignment for 15 years - this based on actual projections and the best judgment of Staff and Architect. The WAREHOUSE ADDITION, we believe, will serve until 1975 when our principal building will be 25 years old, and we also believe, - in need of replacement or made available for other use.

We'll have more on Coast Electric's growth, its needs and its plans right here, on this page, next week. Is it a date?

Roads, streets and lots of expletives

Streets are much in the news this week. On Monday morning we learned that Lincoln Sam had agreed to put up additional funds to repair Burrow's damage to the seawall road. As things now stand the county expects to put up $15,000, and with the federal government paving $15,000, the county engineer George Teller can put the finishing touches on the paving work, but it can be sought for the cost of paving.

On Monday night, the city commission was taken to work, getting Bay St. Louis streets paved. The city's advisory committee, at a 10 a.m. meeting with some abstaining, recommended a minimal program estimated to cost $1,149,182 with all the costs to be financed by 25-year general obligation bonds. A small levy or possibly a flat would be all that is required to retire these bonds. Under this proposal 6 1/2 miles of existing streets in the newly annexed area will be resurfaced and 20 1/2 miles of new streets will be repaved; the major drainage program costing $182,820 will be constructed by contract with the expectation that when drainage problems will be handled, all the cost of materials, $15,000, by the laborers, county supervisors lent the city the needed equipment.

While as a member of the advisory committee we voted against this plan, we intend to strongly support it should the mayor and commissioners follow this suggestion.

We can think of several objections to this proposal beginning with the skepticism that the necessary street side ditch drainage is unlikely to be accomplished by the city's small labor force in any reasonable period even if the county makes all equipment available, to a feeling that a financing arrangement more equitable to the newly annexed area and to property owners abutting the 6 1/2 miles of main arterial streets paved during this year's crash program could be made. The West Bay area gets very little from the proposal and these main arterial streets received about one inch of paving on an unprepared base, while the streets provided under the proposed bond issue would receive from 4 to 6 inches of paving laid on a prepared base. Whether the street gets 1, 1 1/2 or 6 inches of paving would be determined by the use characteristics of the street.

Objections, however, are not the important thing. The important thing is to get our streets back in usable shape. Already too much time has passed. Not only has the condition of the streets affected our economy and our growth and our dispositions, but it has had a direct cost to the community in terms of depreciation of our automobiles, lost damage and similar less obvious ways.

We just cannot afford to let our streets continue in their present condition any longer than is necessary. To do otherwise would be to cut off our nose to spite our face. The sooner the commission council comes up with its solution the better. It is estimated that it will take 18 months to do the work after six or seven months making final plans, voting on the bond issue and letting bids.

Warren Cyril and Johnny, let's get going.

Jaycee position Our readers write

Editor, Sea Coast Echo

Many Jaycees feel that sections of three or four members of our local group are not in the best interest of our organization and certainly not in keeping with the ideals of fair play and community development for which we are noted.

I was at the meeting which passed the motion supporting the so called "city manager" type government for Bay St. Louis. Out of a membership of nearly 50, less than 10 members were present. The motion passed by a vote of 5 to 4. I was also in attendance at three previous meetings, one with over 30 members in attendance, when the same or similar motions were defeated handily.

Letters to the editor are always welcome. They should be on pertinent topics, in good taste and limited to 300 words. The Sea Coast Echo requires also that each letter be properly signed by the writer before it will be considered for publication. No letters unsigned or containing pseudonyms will be published.

I do not question the right of any individuals to propose their ideas and criticisms. I do resent the inference that the majority of the membership of the Bay St. Louis Jaycees is in agreement with what these two or three individuals are doing. I also question the motives of those who would preach change instead of progress, I also question the opportunistic nature of any issue which is based on personalities and emotions.

It is a gross injustice to continue to use the good name of the Bay St. Louis Jaycees in this matter, when in reality it is the personal project of two or three present members and one past member.

Sincerely,

CHARLES E. CARTER, JR.

Sons Go-Go

Tiger quintet debuts Tuesday

By ROBERT L. COOPER, Staff Writer
After Bay High's Wimpy Seven starts for a state championship basketball team some good players have been found but this year's crop of tigers is not moving in the fast lane.

TOPS IN COUNCIL. Livestock judging team of North Central Future Farmers of America won in east Leaf River Council meet Nov. 14 at Wiggins with 1,470 points against 11 other schools. From left are D.J. Martin, chapter advisor; Larry Smith, who scored 127 points, 100 possible; D.L. Donald, 168; 76 points; and Andrew Alder, 14 points.

LAW ENFORCEMENT GRADS. Melvin Ladner, left of Sheriff-elect Fred Curet, and George Rayburn, right, were awarded certificates on completing three-week course at Mississippi Law Enforcement Academy in Jackson on Friday, Nov. 17. Ladner who was recommended by supervisor-elect Joe Cuervas, will serve as deputy in District 1.

JPs must go to special course

State Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson has announced that all justices of the peace other than lawyers elected in the Nov. 7 general elections from this county are required by law to attend the Justice of the Peace Training Course beginning Nov. 20.

A new parishioners register has been placed in the main vestibule of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Msgr. James J. Hannon, pastor, is asking those who have come to the parish within the last few months to sign it.

WIN AT BRIDGE. Winners in the Bay bridge Club games Thursday night at the Garden Center were Mrs. Mildred Means and Miss America Scafidi, first; Miss Barbara Gray and Mrs. S.O. Hastings, second; and Mrs. Charles E. Carter and Mrs. Tom Dibson, third. The group will not play Friday.

It is believed that is the same name last year as the Gulf Coast Conference basketball meeting, the 10th year of basketball and the 10th year of basketball with the all-state team and being held by coaches Mississippi's No. 1 prep basketball players.

The tigers open their season against Harrison Saturday and Friday Tuesday in the 10th game but they will be without most of last year's team because John Freeman, Freddie Breland, Steve Davis, Steve Johnson, Robert Johnson, Mike Bremner and David Langrada but moving up from junior varsity are Mike Cave, Kenny Miller, Donald Caldwell, Robert McArthur, Gary Walker, Jerry Johnston and Gene Estapa.

"The lads have only been working out in the gym for about a week and I'm waiting until after the first game before making any predictions," Seymour said Tuesday.

But the lads had better shape up in a hurry as they meet one of the toughest teams on the coast next Friday, Gulfport's Commodores.

Memorial services for members who died during the past year were held Monday night at the Knights of Columbus home by Pere Le Duc Council 1522.

Eulogized were Joseph Moran and Phillip Hurley.

Rev. Richard Somers was guest speaker. Our Lady of the Gulf senior choir sang under the direction of Mrs. John McKenna.

Services were attended by members, relatives and friends of the deceased.

120 attend band clinic at Stanislaus

Approximately 120 band members from Bay High, Long Beach and St. Stanislaus attended a band clinic Saturday at St. Stanislaus, conducted by John Olsen and Gene Zoro, clinicians from Northeastern Louisiana State College.

Technical and musical difficulties generally encountered by high school students learning instruments were discussed.

Recitals were given during the morning session and the afternoon program featured a general discussion session.

John Olsen, director Davis and Zoro in charge of arrangements.

1st Baptist picks group on building

First Baptist Church at its business session last Wednesday elected Glen Salter, W.L. Goodrich, Russell Chapman, Floyd Christy and Jim Filligame to its building committee.

The committee will have the responsibility of promoting and overseeing the recently voted building program and act for the church as the contractor.

Draft chief outlines student status claims

The following constitutes a list of questions most frequently asked by students seeking draft deferral to attend university, according to Col. James L. Davis, state selective service director.

Question. Last year I dropped out of college because of illness but will attend full-time during my junior year beginning in September. Will I qualify for a student deferment?

Answer. Ordinarily a registrant who failed to satisfactorily complete a full year would not qualify for deferment in Class II-S this year. The local board's consideration of mitigating circumstances, such as serious illness, death in the family, and other causes beyond the registrant's control might, however, result in your being classified II-S. Such circumstances should be written out in full and placed in your file immediately they occur.

Question. A student who has been ill won't be able to complete high school until he is nearly 20. Will he be drafted in the meantime?

A. Selective Service regulations say that a registrant who is a high school student and satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course will not be drafted until he is graduated, turns age 20, or, drop out of school, whichever occurs first.

Q. I was 24 years old on July 6, 1967, and plan to enter college as an undergraduate in September. Will I be eligible for a II-S student deferment?

A. No, because you have passed your 24th birthday. You may, however, qualify for a I-S classification, as a college student. If, at the time you are

Thanksgiving

This week Americans pause briefly in the rush of daily activity to observe Thanksgiving Day traditionally a time for returning home carving turkeys, viewing football games and for the gathering of families. Thanksgiving is a purely American holiday.

Living in the midst of material wealth we tend to accept the blessings of this land as if they were commonplace. Getting and spending so absorb our energies that it is easy to forget the divine source of this abundance.

As we give thanks to God for his many blessings, let us not forget the great blessing of freedom.
At this solemn moment in our history, now is the time to rededicate ourselves to its preservation.

Fishing and hunting are getting better as the days go by. As the duck season opened Nov. 10 in Louisiana reports have come in that some good duck hunts were made out in the marshes there. The season on ducks opens in Mississippi Nov. 29, contrary to our mistake made about the season opening in Mississippi on Nov. 18. He who doesn't make a mistake never does anything. When hunting ducks, geese, and other water fowl, refer to the federal regulations which are given when one purchases a federal duck stamp. Don't go by what you read or by memory. A real hunter should know when the seasons open and close. Ignorance of the law is no excuse.

Fishing over the past week was good for both fresh and salt water fish, according to reports received.

Bob and Elliott Givens caught a 12-pound catfish, three red fish, one weighing over 12 pounds, and a number of perch, one day last week.

Fred Garner has been catching some nice species in Jordan River. Fred was fishing and said speckle trout fishing is improving right along. Should get better when colder weather sets in.

The fish fry given last week by the Bay-Waveland Gun and Rod Club was a dilly. Quite a number of sportsmen attended and had more fish than they could eat, cooked by members of the club who are experts at frying members of the finny tribe. Chafu were Frank Ladner, Wilmot Seymour, Donald
